

PROTECT THE FUTURE

Every year, tons of water is being wasted and tons of chemical waste ends up in soil and water. This consumption and waste, which is increasing with each passing year, threaten the life of living things and our world.

The chemical wastes and the water spent in the process of making the production materials obtained from animal products suitable for textile use give serious damage to ecological life.

Friend of both your body & nature

Vegan products, which are produced from natural ingredients to a large extent and do not contain animal additives, ensure the protection of nature by not harming the ecological balance.

“Equality” to offer a livable world for our animal friends with whom we share our world. Environmentally friendly “Equality” does not contain animal support in any process of its production and provides a high level of comfort for your body with its breathable structure.

FOR A FREE & LIVABLE FUTURE

As Aydın Textile, we have developed the vegan mattress fabric "Equality" in order not to harm the nature and the life of living things for a livable future.

"Equality", which does not contain animal additives at any stage of its production, provides vitality to both your body and nature with its animal-friendly production culture and the unique comfort it offers.

Every living thing has the right to live freely. Millions of animals are being used for industrial use in different sectors and for different purposes.

This usage harms the freedom of living of the creatures we share the same world with, while it provides direct damage to the living ecosystem and nature.

Hope for the future
provides a unique comfort for your body.
